NO-ONE IS ABOVE THE LAW!

I was one of the majority of the British public who welcomed the introduction of the Hunting Act. Sadly some hunters believe the law is beneath them. I am concerned that hunt monitors peacefully documenting hunt activities regularly suffer threats and abusive behaviour from hunt supporters, which suggests that hunts have something to hide. I urge you to contact Vernon Coaker MP (Home Office Minister) to request that more is done to enforce this landmark legislation and to relay my concerns to our local Chief Constable.

Dear Chief Constable,

I was one of the majority of the British public who welcomed the introduction of the Hunting Act. Sadly some hunters believe the law is beneath them. I am concerned that hunt monitors peacefully documenting hunt activities regularly suffer threats and abusive behaviour from hunt supporters, which suggests that hunts have something to hide. I am troubled by reports of hunts running amok in the countryside, killing pets and trespassing on private land. No-one is above the law and I urge you to do more to enforce the Hunting Act.
